GEOsential

CONFERENCE MINI GUIDE

MOTIVATED MOVERS

The secret of finding your next seller conversation

15 life-change events. 8 neighborhood triggers.
Personalized postcards and a follow-up plan.

JANINE SASSO

The Hyper Local Agent / Geographic Farming Conference 2026

THE CONVERSATION STARTS HERE

Two reasons to reach out

A homeowner does not need to be ready to list today for a useful conversation to begin.

A LIFE CHANGE CAN START THE CONVERSATION.

The 15 D's help you recognize a possible change in housing needs. The homeowner tells you what matters and when. A neutral message about home value or housing options can open the door.

A NEIGHBORHOOD ACTIVITY CAN START THE CONVERSATION.

A listing, sale, showing or other local activity gives you a relevant reason to contact nearby homeowners. You can begin before you have a listing or an established presence in the neighborhood.

01 The trigger

What changed in their life, or what happened around their home?

02 The message

Choose a postcard or letter that connects the activity to a useful question.

03 The response

Offer one clear next step, then agree on a follow-up plan.

The common thread: one audience, one useful offer and a follow-up plan.

LIFE-CHANGE TRIGGERS

The 15 D's: 01-05

Use these as listening prompts. Keep public mail neutral and let the homeowner explain their situation.

01 Death

An inherited home brings property decisions.

Useful offer: Property value and a preparation plan.

A private letter after an introduction or a disclosed need. Ask who is making decisions and what the timing looks like.

02 Divorce

A household change may require a different housing plan.

Useful offer: A clear view of home value and the sale process.

Use a private, neutral message. Ask which housing decisions need attention first.

03 Diapers

The current home may no longer provide enough space.

Useful offer: Current home value before planning a move.

Send a broad space-and-features postcard to owners of smaller floor plans. Ask what would make the next home work better.

04 Diplomas

A milestone can change what the homeowner needs.

Useful offer: Home value and options for the next chapter.

Use a broad next-chapter message. Let the owner describe what changed and whether there is a target date.

05 Downsizing

The homeowner wants less upkeep or a different home size.

Useful offer: A value review and a plan for the next home.

Use a personalized postcard or seller letter. Ask about maintenance, stairs, storage and the preferred next location.

LIFE-CHANGE TRIGGERS

The 15 D's: 06-10

Use these as listening prompts. Keep public mail neutral and let the homeowner explain their situation.

06 Diamonds

Combining households can create a purchase and a sale.

Useful offer: A coordinated plan for the homes involved.

Ask which properties are involved and which decision needs to happen first.

07 Dangerous

A homeowner's stated concerns may prompt a move.

Useful offer: Home value and a move-planning conversation.

Use a neutral relocation message. Let the homeowner define the location criteria that matter to them.

08 Daily Grind

Commuting, upkeep or daily friction can change housing priorities.

Useful offer: Home value and a comparison of housing options.

Send a broad lifestyle postcard. Ask which part of the daily routine the homeowner would most like to change.

09 Daycare

A homeowner may want to be closer to chosen support or services.

Useful offer: A sale-and-move plan around the owner's chosen destinations.

Ask about the destinations and travel-time priorities the homeowner wants to use.

10 Disaster

Property damage or disruption may lead to a housing decision.

Useful offer: Help organizing property and housing options.

Offer private support after a request or introduction. Ask what is urgent and whether housing help is wanted now or later.

LIFE-CHANGE TRIGGERS

The 15 D's: 11-15

Use these as listening prompts. Keep public mail neutral and let the homeowner explain their situation.

11 Debt

An owner may want to understand the cash a sale could release.

Useful offer: Estimated sale proceeds using the owner's actual inputs.

Use a broad home-value message or respond to a request. Ask what the homeowner wants the proceeds to accomplish.

12 Drugs

A homeowner may disclose concerns that lead them to explore a move.

Useful offer: A housing plan based on the homeowner's priorities.

Use a neutral, private relocation conversation. Ask what they want to change and which housing criteria matter.

13 Diversify Assets

An owner's plans for a property or portfolio may change.

Useful offer: Current property value and estimated selling proceeds.

Send a property-specific letter to the owner's mailing address. Ask what they want the property to do for them.

14 Damages

Repairs or deferred maintenance may prompt a sale decision.

Useful offer: A comparison of selling as-is and preparing the home.

Use a repair-decision postcard. Ask about known projects, available time and budget before suggesting work.

15 Dream

The right home may create a reason to move.

Useful offer: A conversation about a genuine property match.

Use a buyer-needs postcard or letter for a real match. Confirm the property features and the owner's timing.

NEIGHBORHOOD-ACTIVITY TRIGGERS

The 8 farming triggers: 01-04

The activity creates the reason to reach out. The homeowner's own property makes the message relevant.

01 New Listing

A neighbor just listed. What could that mean for your home?

Audience: Nearby owners with similar homes. The listing can belong to another agent.

Ask: Would you like to compare that home with yours?

02 Sold Listing

A nearby sale gives owners a reason to revisit their value.

Audience: Homes near a relevant recent sale. Use a verified sale and compare the properties.

Ask: Would you like to see how the sale compares with your home?

03 Street Cred

Your hyper-local activity can start a conversation, even when it happened earlier.

Audience: One street or a focused group of similar homes. Share real local knowledge or experience.

Ask: Would an updated value review help you plan ahead?

04 Open House

An open house creates activity beyond the home being shown.

Audience: Owners near an open house you actually hosted or attended, including one for another agent.

Ask: Are you curious how your home compares with the one nearby?

NEIGHBORHOOD-ACTIVITY TRIGGERS

The 8 farming triggers: 05-08

The activity creates the reason to reach out. The homeowner's own property makes the message relevant.

05 Listing Appointment

Preparing for one homeowner can reveal useful information for the street.

Audience: Nearby homes with relevant shared features. Keep the appointment and the owner's plans private.

Ask: Would you like a value review for your home, too?

06 Expired Listing

A nearby home coming off the market can raise new questions.

Audience: Nearby owners watching the market. Confirm the status without guessing why the home did not sell.

Ask: Would you like to understand what buyers are responding to nearby?

07 I Have a Buyer / Showing Activity

A real buyer need can make a homeowner reconsider their timing.

Audience: Homes matching a genuine buyer's criteria, or homes near an actual showing.

Ask: Have you considered moving if the right opportunity came along?

08 Coming Soon Listing

Upcoming neighborhood activity can create curiosity before a home hits the market.

Audience: Owners near a publicly announced coming-soon listing. Use verified public information.

Ask: Would you like to see where your home fits as new competition comes on?

PERSONALIZED POSTCARD LIBRARY

Their house is the hook: 1-4

These are template previews. The merge area receives each recipient's own house photo and property details.

POSTCARD 1

Recognize this home?

A familiar house photo opens a conversation about finding the right buyer.

POSTCARD 2

A personal home-value letter

A property-specific letter offers an individual value conversation.

POSTCARD 3

Your updated home value

A clear home-value offer gives the recipient a simple reason to respond.

POSTCARD 4

I've got a crush on your home

A curiosity message keeps the recipient's own home at the center.

Keep one clear response path: a QR code, a short web address or a direct reply. Use the original template files when preparing your mailing.

PERSONALIZED POSTCARD LIBRARY

Their house is the hook: 5-8

These are template previews. The merge area receives each recipient's own house photo and property details.

POSTCARD 5

Let's talk real home value

A direct value question can stand on its own in a new farm.

POSTCARD 6

I visited your neighbor's home

Use after a genuine nearby visit, showing or open house.

POSTCARD 7

A neighbor just listed

Connect a verified nearby listing with a comparison to the recipient's home.

POSTCARD 8

A home near you just sold

Invite a value review around a relevant, verified nearby sale.

Keep one clear response path: a QR code, a short web address or a direct reply. Use the original template files when preparing your mailing.

STANDALONE CAMPAIGN

Your 8 x 6 mailing plan

Eight personalized touches, six weeks apart, to the same farm. You can use the designs around real activity or as an organized sequence.

TOUCH	WEEK	POSTCARD	CONVERSATION ANGLE
1	1	Recognize this home?	Could the right buyer create a reason to move?
2	7	A personal value letter	What would a sale look like for this owner?
3	13	Your updated home value	Would a fresh value review be useful?
4	19	A crush on your home	Could the right opportunity change their timing?
5	25	Real home value	What would they want to know before moving?
6	31	A neighborhood visit	How does their home compare with one nearby?
7	37	A neighbor just listed	Where does their home fit as competition arrives?
8	43	A home near you just sold	What does a relevant sale suggest for their home?

THE CALENDAR KEEPS MOVING. THE MESSAGE STAYS TRUE.

Use visit, buyer, listing and sale language only when the activity is real. When there is no matching event, use the design with a fresh home-value question instead. Keep the recipient's property photo and response path consistent.

EIGHT TOUCHES ACROSS THE YEAR

Week 1 is your first mailing. Week 43 is the eighth touch. Record replies throughout the campaign and move each response into an agreed follow-up plan.

THE RESPONSE IS THE BEGINNING

A conversation that continues

Deliver the information they asked for. Then learn what the homeowner wants to do next.

AN OPENING REPLY

“Thanks for reaching out. I can help with your home value. What prompted you to take a look?”

“Are you exploring options, or working toward a specific date?”

Deliver the useful next step

Send the requested value review, comparison or housing information. Ask which part they want help understanding.

Agree on the follow-up

Record the owner's goals, timing and preferred contact method. Agree on the next conversation and put the date in the system.

Continue relevant nurture

Keep showing up with information that matches the homeowner's plans. Update the plan when their situation changes.

WHO OWNS EACH PART?

Agent: listen, confirm goals and timing, and lead the appointment.
People: prepare the mail piece, verify data and check campaign tasks.
System: record the source, deliver the requested item and schedule the agreed follow-up.

YOUR CAMPAIGN SCORECARD

Track pieces mailed and spend, unique responses, qualified conversations, appointments, signed clients and closed transactions. A reply is the start of a relationship to manage.

YOUR NEXT MOVE

My first Motivated Movers campaign

Choose one audience and one useful offer. Make the next step specific enough to schedule.

MY FARM / STREET / PROPERTY GROUP

MY TRIGGER: ONE LIFE EVENT OR NEIGHBORHOOD ACTIVITY

THE POSTCARD OR LETTER I WILL USE

THE USEFUL OFFER AND ONE RESPONSE PATH

MY FIRST FOLLOW-UP QUESTION

MAILING START DATE / NEXT TOUCH DATE

WHO OWNS THE DATA, MAILING AND FOLLOW-UP?

MY FIRST CAMPAIGN CHECKPOINT

Pieces mailed: _____ Spend: _____ Responses: _____

Conversations: _____ Appointments: _____

A system for the conversations you start

Explore geographic farming and past-client retention with GEOsential.
geosential.com